Platforms

The OctoBraille fonts are based on the ISO8859-1 character set, also referred to as Latin 1 or Windows Codepage 1252. They contain all 256 Braille characters in an 8-dot Braille figure, including the standard 64 Braille characters in the 6-dot Braille system. Originally developed for the Microsoft Windows platform, the OctoBraille fonts have been tested on the Apple Macintosh OS X platform. Furthermore, the fonts have been converted and tested on the Apple Macintosh OS9 platform.

Price and Restrictions

OctoBraille is available for a one-off license fee of €460 (excl VAT) per font per legal entity.

Once licensed by a legal entity (company, public institution, NGO, individual or similar), the fonts may be used without user restrictions by any number of staff within that legal entity. The rights of use do not extend beyond a single legal entity. Hence, the rights of use do not include subsidiaries, sister companies, partners, sub-contractors or similar.

The rights of use include the right to embed OctoBraille in any graphical rendition such as a pdf file.
